Work Crews and how do they work?

Woorinyan Thomastown uses “ work crews” as their employment model. Work crews place workers into the Community.

Woorinyan workers are people with a disAbility employed to complete contracts in the service industry.

Each Work Crew has a full time support staff. .

They are there to:

- Support workers
- Supervise work tasks
- Assist with work skills
- Assess productivity
- Maintain Quality Control
- Liaise with customers

Woorinyan has operated work crews for over fifteen years and provides a range of services to it’s customers.

Wages are based on productivity using the Business Service Wage Assessment Tool (BSWAT) and are paid on the Woorinyan Enterprise Agreement.

Workers receive a combination of Disability Support Pension and Woorinyan wages.
